

AIA WITH J WONG

BRINGING ATHLETES CLOSER TO GOD IN A REAL WAY

JULY 2011

VOLUME 1, ISSUE 12

A Month of 'Hellos' & 'Goodbyes'

July was jam-packed full of stuff! It was a rollercoaster, but the Lord is good!

Goodbye X-Project

All good things must come to an end. This rang true for me as I said goodbye to everyone from X-Project, especially the 16 interns. For six weeks I poured myself into this project and the interns. It was such a blessing to watch them grow in their relationship with the Lord and with each other. After the fifth week, we as staff hand over the project and our responsibilities to the interns. Each intern was given one or more responsibility to handle for the last three weeks. It was really awesome to see them own the project and develop it in their own way. As for the staff, I got to see them at Conference in Fort Collins, CO!

Hello and Goodbye Colorado

Fort Collins, CO... the home of CSU US Staff Conference 2011! This conference happens once every two years and is for all Cru staff state side. I was crazy busy, the whole nine days of the conference, running around to various meetings and introducing myself to numerous people. I met so many AIA staff from all across the country. It was good just to get some "introductory" time with them in hopes that next time I see them we'll have more time to hang out.

One of the main highlights for me was from a morning session with Francis Chan. I blogged about this on my website (see address below), but basically it wasn't necessarily the content of the message, but his delivery. Towards the end he prayed with a sense of desperation that I've never seen before. It moved me to wonder how desperate am I for God?

Another highlight was a meeting with AIA staff only. We took some time for corporate confession and repentance. I really felt a moving of the Holy Spirit as people confessed and repented of some of the sins and issues in their life. It convicted me of some of the junk that I need to deal with in my life.

Hello Hometown

I got back into Tucson on July 27th. It's been just under two months since I was last in here. It's good to be back and now just getting back to the grind of daily life. Since I've felt the Lord leading me to stay on staff with AIA, I need to raise a team of partners who will support me. I need to continue to trust the Lord through this process. I know He provides!

This summer has been awesome, but I'm ready to get back to campus ministry at the University of Arizona. I've already been on campus a few times and just seeing some of the guys have been awesome! This semester is going to be sweet!

In Christ,
Jeremy

This is a group pic of our staff team on X-Project! Awesome staff that I was able to get to know pretty well. Definitely some life long friends here.

Francis Chan's morning session. Powerful.

Hard at work on our John Deere Gator at Headquarters! It was fun to drive!
